Artificial Intelligence

L&G Artificial Intelligence UCITS ETF

AI allows us not only to do new things, but to do almost everything else more efficiently too. So more than just creating new markets, AI is transforming every market.

AI is proving to be one of the most disruptive forces in technology in decades, as its underlying technological capabilities can be applied to all industries. AI-enabled technologies are already improving our lives in the ways we communicate, work, shop and care for our health. AI has also become an imperative for businesses seeking to create and maintain a competitive edge.

L&G ETF has partnered with ROBO Global, a recognised provider of investable technology indices, to offer investors a liquid, transparent and cost-effective vehicle to access this transformative theme.

Compelling factors for AI adoption

The L&G Artificial Intelligence UCITS ETF seeks to capture the value created by these revolutionary technologies being applied throughout the economy.

- 84% of enterprises believe investing in AI will lead to greater competitive advantages.¹
- AI technologies could increase global GDP by $15.7 trillion, or 14%, by 2030.¹
- From 2015 to 2018, the number of active AI startups increased by 113%, compared with 28% for all active startups.²

The key drivers of this growth are:

- Massive data growth: as big-data capabilities increase, so does the potential for AI applications to leverage that data.
- Lower computing costs: as the cost of entry drops, the accessibility and availability of AI rises.
- Advancements in AI algorithms: new 'deep learning' and machine learning capabilities are democratising data science and development.
- Changing demographics: as the global population increases, AI is the key to boosting the ability to provide everything from healthcare to consumer goods to energy to more than 8.5 billion people by 2030.²

Importantly, the wider adoption of AI should be a positive force for society: rather than meaning there is less work for people it could free employees from routine tasks to allow them to perform more valuable roles, it could reduce bias in recruitment through the fairer filtering of applications, and it could identify vulnerable individuals and security threats from social media, among many other uses.

These improvements in AI have the potential to disrupt many existing business models and create high-growth new markets for the most innovative companies. The L&G Artificial Intelligence UCITS ETF is designed to identify and own these stocks.

Know your AI exposure

Physical replication

The L&G Artificial Intelligence UCITS ETF uses full physical replication to offer investors direct exposure to the theme.

Industry expertise

We believe the unrivalled expertise of the ROBO Global advisory board ensures that the ROBO Global Artificial Intelligence Index (the index) is able to capture the entire value chain of artificial intelligence.

Growth diversifier

The index has a typical market-cap breakdown of 40% in small and mid-caps and 60% in large-caps. It therefore has less than 15% overlap with traditional benchmarks such as the S&P 500 or the MSCI World.

Broad global exposure

The modified equal-weighting scheme of the index ensures all companies in the industry are fairly represented. Because we are too early in the theme to confidently identify all of tomorrow's best performers, this approach seeks to maximise exposure to the growth potential while mitigating any company-specific risks in the basket.

Key risks: As the Index includes small and medium-sized publicly traded companies, the Fund is subject to the risk that such companies may be more vulnerable to adverse business or economic events and greater and more unpredictable price changes than larger companies or the stock market as a whole. The Fund is subject to the risks associated with technology-focused companies that are particularly vulnerable to rapid developments in technology (which may leave their products out-of-date), government regulation and competition from domestic and foreign competitors who may have lower production costs. Such companies may also have difficulties establishing and maintaining patents, copyrights, trademarks and trade secrets relating to their products which could negatively affect their value. Third party service providers (such as counterparties entering into FDIs with the Fund or the Company's depository) may go bankrupt and fail to pay money due to the Fund or return property belonging to the Fund. If the Index provider stops calculating the Index or if the Fund's license to track the Index is terminated, the Fund may have to be closed. It may not always be possible to buy and sell Shares on a stock exchange or at prices closely reflecting the NAV. There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the Fund. Investors can lose all the capital invested in the Fund. Please refer to the "Risk Factors" section of the Company's Prospectus and the Fund Supplement.

The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.

Defining the Universe of AI

ROBO Global’s Industry Classification is a forward-looking road map, supported by insights from a dedicated coverage team, to ensure sub-sectors evolve and expand at the right time. The Industry classification is updated on a quarterly basis and managed by the ROBO Global Industry Classification Committee.

- Infrastructure

Best-of-breed companies that are building AI engine and platform solutions. Infrastructure companies currently represent 55% of the Index.
- Applications & services

Deep domain knowledge companies applying AI capabilities for the purpose of digital transformation. Application & Services companies currently represent 45% of the Index.

Index and weighting methodology

Index methodology

Stocks classified within the ROBO Global Industry Classification as exposed to the AI theme are given a ‘THNQ Score’, comprised of factors representing the levels of revenue the company receives from AI activities, levels of investment the firm makes in AI, and the market and technology leadership of the firm in the Artificial Intelligence universe.

Each stock’s THNQ Score will range from 1 to 100 and will be reviewed on a regular basis. Companies whose THNQ Score is greater than or equal to 50, and who meet all other eligibility requirements, are eligible for inclusion in the ROBO Global Artificial Intelligence Index series.

The ROBO Global Artificial Intelligence Index comprises a minimum of 50 index constituents and a maximum of 100 constituents.

Weighting methodology

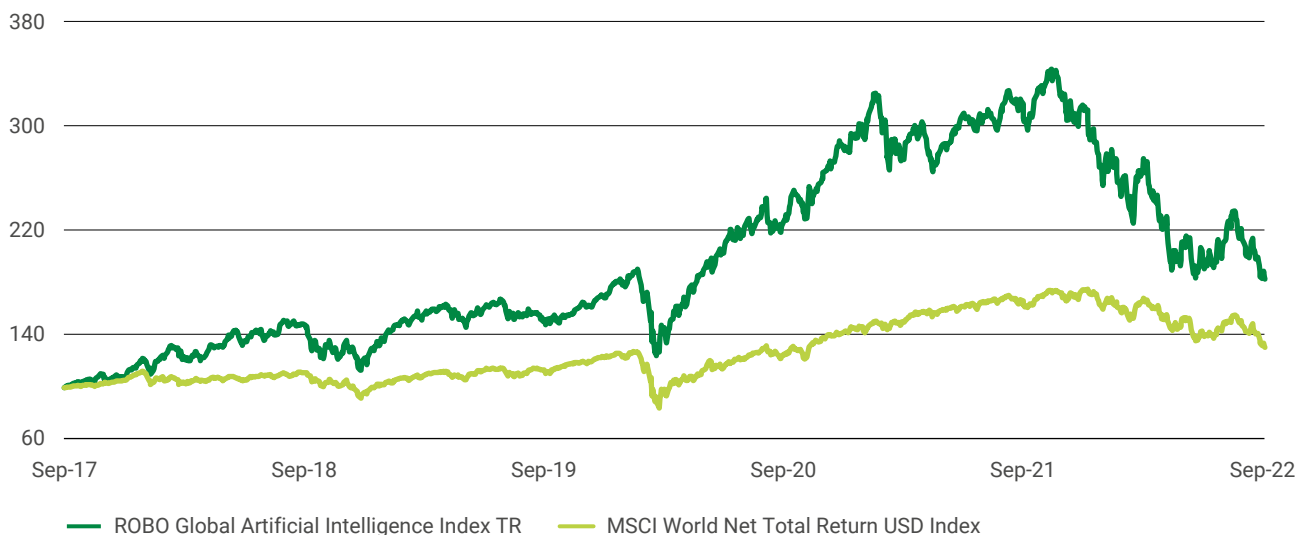

Index constituents are weighted according to their ‘THNQ Score’. Each constituent’s weight is calculated by dividing its ‘THNQ Score’ by the sum of all constituents’ ‘THNQ Scores’. This process ensures that the index allocates a larger weight to those players that derive a distinct portion of their revenues from artificial intelligence, and which have the potential to grow through their technology and innovation set. The index rebalances quarterly to maintain diversification and remain responsive to market trends and new entrants.
